

The Women in Science Scholarship supports women in the atmospheric, oceanic, and climate sciences, and related areas of study and was established to acknowledge that gender diversity is essential in the pursuit of better science. An all-woman committee reviews and selects the recipient of this award. The scholarship carries a $10,000 stipend.