13. MEMBER DONATIONS

As the American Meteorological Society closes out our Centennial Campaign, I am delighted to tell you that it was an unprecedented success. We surpassed our original goal of $9 million, and I am happy to report that AMS members and friends have raised a total: $10,298,052 in the following categories:

- Current: $5,263,622
- Short-term commitments: $872,991
- Charitable Gift Annuities: 387,189
- Estate Commitments: $3,774,250

The support for student scholarships, fellowships, and travel grants remains very strong. A final list of Campaign contributors will be provided online later this year.

We have yet to close the books on 2020, so final results for the year are not currently available. Based on a preliminary analysis of income and expenses, we expect that we will end 2020 somewhat better than what was projected in the budget shown above. Strong performance by the AMS journals and the 100th Annual Meeting, just before the pandemic, contributed to that positive result.

The Society's investments saw excellent returns in 2020 and ended the year with significant gains. Charitable giving to the Society, much of which is used to support scholarships, fellowships, travel grants, and other student programs, was relatively strong given the challenges faced by most community members during the year, allowing the Society to successfully surpass even its "stretch goal" of $10 million for the entire 100th Anniversary Campaign.

The Council approved a 2021 budget that projects a significant deficit in the operating budget for the year. This is a result of pandemic-related impacts on scientific meetings and other programs of the Society. A Payroll Protection Plan loan obtained by AMS should largely offset the projected deficit, provided loan forgiveness can be secured as expected.
